

Airbrushes & Sets

Choosing the Right Airbrush

There are 3 different types of airbrushes: dual-action/internal mix; single-action/internal mix and single-action/external mix. Dual-action brushes are the most versatile and expensive. Internal mixing combines the air and paint inside the head assembly, providing thorough atomization of spray for smooth, uniform coverage. With external mix brushes, mixing occurs outside the head assembly. "Dual-action" refers to the method of triggering the brush (down for air, back for color), allowing change in line, value and density without stopping. "Single-action" brushes are easier to operate and are recommended for beginning students. The single-action trigger only regulates airflow; color is controlled by separate screw adjustment.

Airbrushing Medium

Designed for modifying the GOLDEN Fluid Acrylics for airbrush/spray application. Blends with minimal effort with the Fluid Acrylics to yield a paint mixture with the proper viscosity for airbrushing. Effectively decreases clogging and tip buildup during spraying, eliminating the largest drawback to airbrushing with acrylics. While designed with the Fluid Acrylics in mind, Airbrush Medium will also reduce the Heavy Body, Matte, High Load, Iridescent/Interference and Fluorescent Acrylics for spray applications. GOLDEN Mediums and Gessos can also be blended with this Airbrush Medium for spraying. (Qty=Each)

Airbrush Transparent Extender

A 100% acrylic binder system designed to modify GOLDEN Airbrush Colors for increased transparency and film hardness. Engineered to meet the highest standards of professional airbrush illustrators, it possesses excellent spraying properties and is formulated to minimize tip build-up, clogging and surface defects. Aeroflash Airbrush Colors

Aeroflash contains high density pigments ground to fine-grain size (0.001 to 0.004mm) in an acrylic resin manufactured to the uniform viscosity (50 centipoise) most suitable for airbrush use. The result is a deep clear color of non-toxic archival permanence that will not clog even a 0.1mm aperture. Aeroflash utilizes a pure water soluble acryl, not an acryl emulsion, which insures no change in color tone from liquid to dried color. Aeroflash will not separate in the airbrush, insuring a constant even spray, and it dries readily on any surface. Packaged in a convenient one-touch container. Aeroflash should be shaken well before use and may be mixed freely with other water base colors. (Qty=Each)
